Departure

Met Dr. Dorf on the Expwy. at 6:45. We started in and drove through an extensive rain storm lasting well into Ohio. Camped that night in the Dunes State Park, Indiana, after meeting Dr. Hoagl.

Thursday, June 14,

Driving through Ill, & Wis. We stayed with Dr. Hoagl most of the time after branching off toward Minneapolis & St. Paul. Had dinner in a rather elegant Place in the Center of Minneapolis. Camped north of Minneapolis.

Friday, June 15.

Reached Dickenson after a long dust across central Minnesota and North Dakota. Red River in flood and muchof Western Minnesota - Cad N Dak. shows signs of heavy rains. Tomorrow we start work.

Saturday, June 16, 1962

First Day in the field.
Drove to Jamestown, single locality. Beautiful & plant fossils mostly leaves. Perfect weather partly cloudy & cool.

Sunday, June 17, 1962.

Mass - at St. Patrick's Dickinson is very likely the dead-est town I have been in for a week. Dr. Dorf and I walked about last night (Saturday) Most of the stores were closed and very few people were in evidence.

Here is the gay western Saturday night
I have come to associate with all ~~xxxx~~ towns out here.
Good collecting today in excellent weather.
Odd pleurotum [illegible]

Good Day in Field large haul of fossils. Packed Wrote Browns.

Tuesday, June 19, 1962.
Last Day in the field one of the most beautiful ever.
Dinner at Palm Beach Supper Club.
Visit to Dvoracks.

Wednesday, June 20, 1962

Left Dickinson today after ~~waiting~~ shipping Mother Brown & Dr. Dorf's Fossils.

We headed west toward Miles City and on the way toured the south unit of the T. Roosevelt Memorial Park. It is an area of Bad Lands & Coulees rather well clothed in grass & Vegetation. Bad lands have always fascinated me and I particularly liked this one because of its beautiful colors (Red Union pumpkin, reds, & tans), its burning coal seams and emerald meadows. The place certainly is a memorial to T.R. If he had been he I don't think he would have emerged to become president.

Montana is beautiful this spring and ranch country right

Rain so didn't leave camp for Campout.
Wood Cutting
Ride up Kapiti to fish.

Wednesday, August 1, 1962
Left Camp at Cabin Creek easy Ride up Elk fork to Rampart Creek. Then over a series of switchbacks, talus slopes, and 300 foot cliffs above the stream wild it cut through a series of gorges to Chak forks. After the last crossing of the Creek Traveler became very short of breath, started to tremble and doubled with side. Start of a four mile walk to camp at the head of Dampark Creek. Pat hailed, carried the son the way. Then gotta a battle up to a creek about a mile from camp where Doc met with [illegible] help. Pat came to my aid. Bob later said Traveler was suffering from Colic. Doc was convinced it was me however.

Thursday, August 2, 1962

Trip up to mountain near Dampark Pass. Horses up mountains. half way some really steep slopes had to lead horses over rocks & snow fields along steep slope.

Friday, August 3, 1962

Trip up east side of Rampart to small valley Cirque. Looked down 800 feet on Camp below. Nice ridd ~~over~~ across the ~~edge of the~~ ~~west~~ north side of the mountain to and from Camp. A beautiful, warm sunny day despite bad start.

Saturday, August 4, 1962

Trip up S. W. of Camp to Rampart Pass. Colored rock. W. 1,200 feet into Fishhawk country glacier valley. Dropped bolders right onto the ice field from above. S. into open Creek and N & E into Bampart Valley. Strong Herd. Found a mation & 1 good leaf. Doc in typically rotten mood asked why we didn't spend longer on outing (though we returned at 4:30) and why we didn't find more specimens. Bob rode up yesterday to join with us.

Sunday, ~~July~~ August 5, 1962

Rain all day, Breakaway

Monday, ~~July~~ August 6, 1962

last day at Bampart. Back to high ground on West side of valley. Found some fresh

Tuesday, ~~July~~ August 7, 1962

Up at 5, 9 Clock. On trail by 9:30 after packing all the horses and striking camp. Arrived at Cabin Creek at 2:30. Doc declared we'd better each bank of trail to avoid slides.

Wednesday, August 8, 1962

Rode up Swede Creek 4 miles or so to head on Hyatt Ridge to hunt for fossils. A rather incident Returning below a cliff we were almost totaled by a large rock falling from the rim. A large part of mine hit the rim in a place which had slid in the spring. It began to crumble then stopped and we thought we would be able to get across. Of course just as we reached the middle of the slide was a large chunk let go and began to fall across. (Don, Bonnie, John + me) We scurried to one side and ducked beneath some boulders but the boy one broke into small ones after hitting a large one. So we were safe. Doc got lost returning from the hill going too far down the spot while Doc got left the horses. I rode ride down the creek with me staying in front of Doc

Thursday August 9, 1962
